Q1. How can I find out if I am at risk of asbestos exposure?
 A. You should find out if you or your family have ever lived or worked in a building or area that has been tested for asbestos. If you have, you should contact your local health department to get more information. You can also call the National Asbestos Clearinghouse at 1-800-485-5049 for more information. The Clearinghouse can provide you with information about asbestos testing, removal, and health concerns. You can also visit the website www.asbestosinjurylawyers.com for more information.
